LOOKING

BACK

Young bright faces
filled with glee;
Starry eyes
absorb all they see.

Days of youth
are both good and bad;
Moods change in a minute
from happy to sad.

A minutes an hour
an hour, a day;
A time for work
to just seem like play.

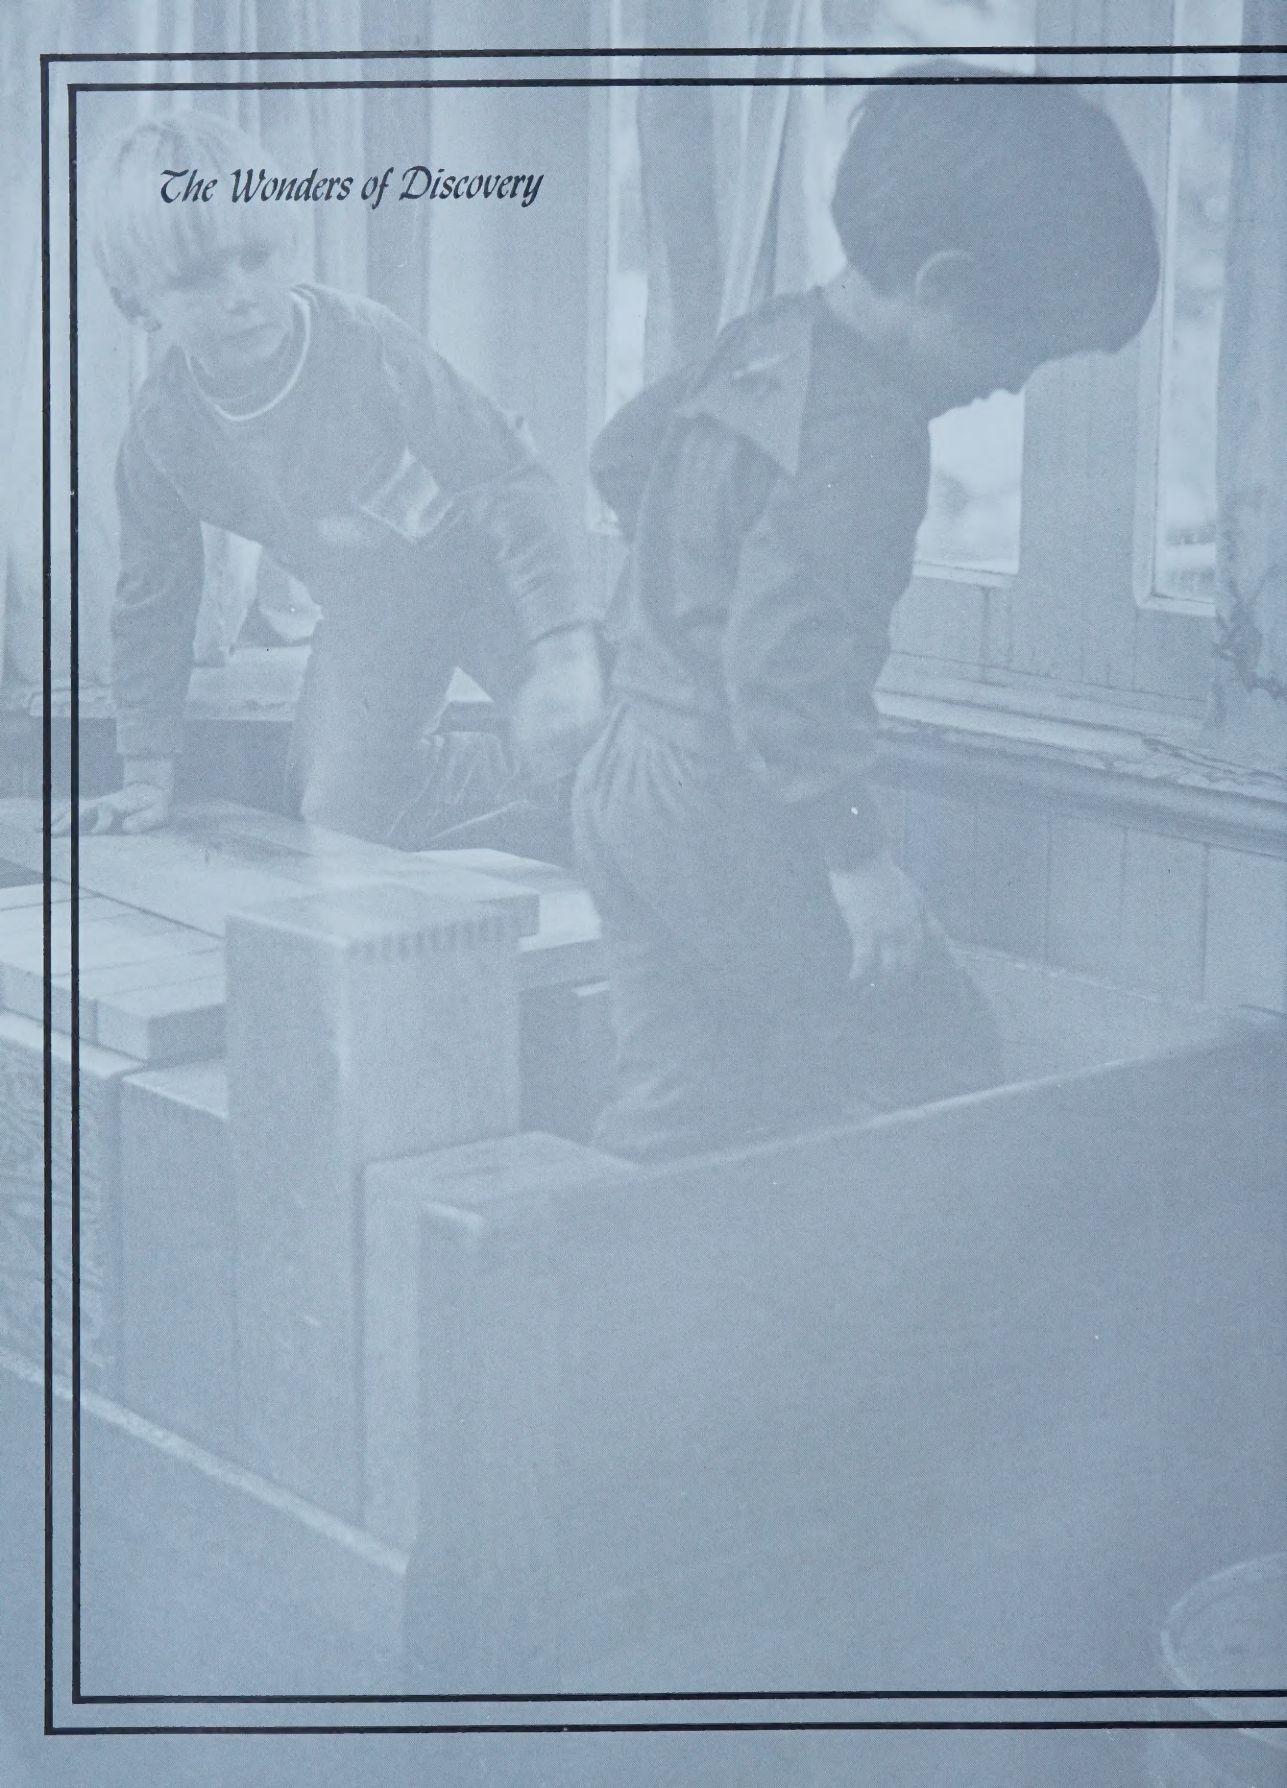

Clowns and balloons,
puppies and snakes;
Dreams and wishes
that every child makes.

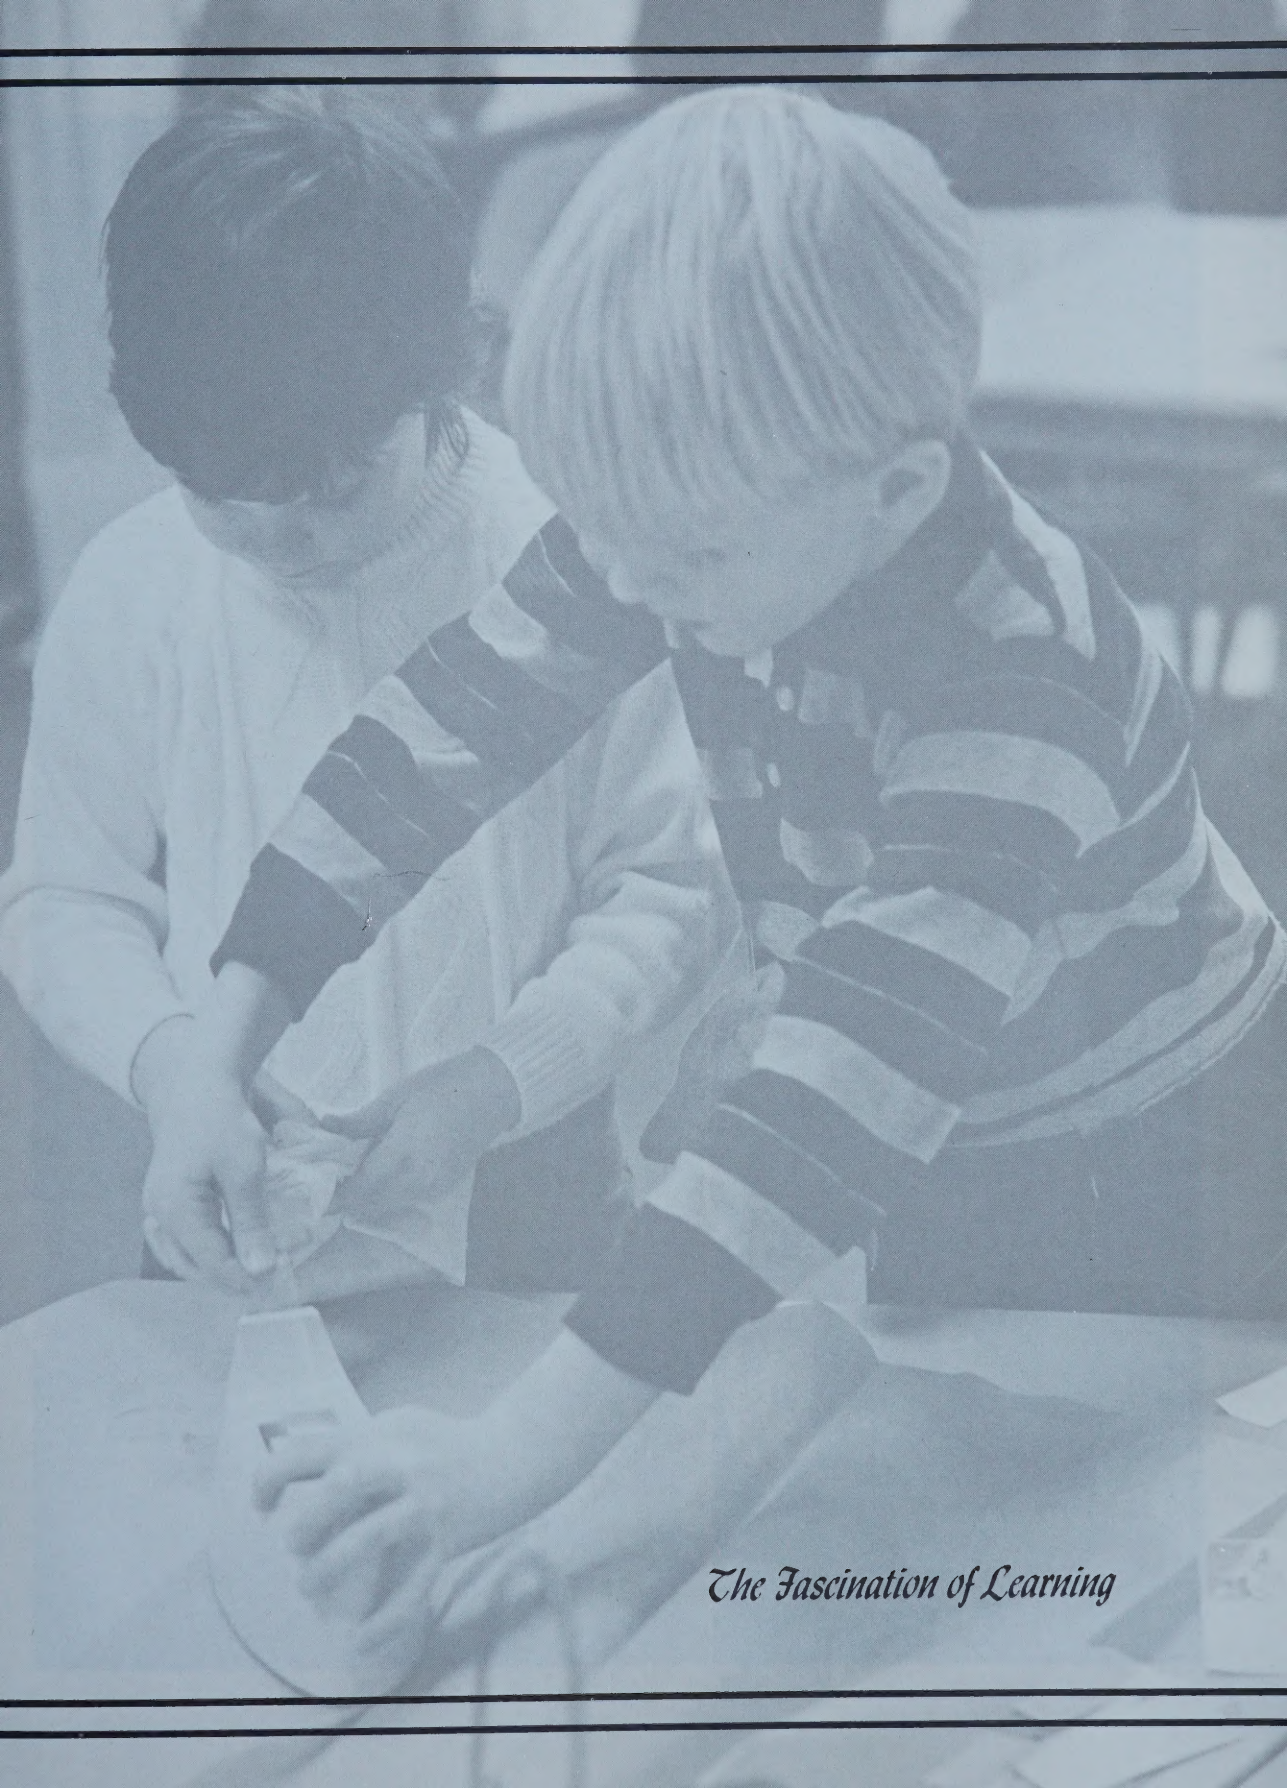

Oh to be young,
it all goes by too fast.
The carefree wonder,
how we wish it could last.

Can you believe it's 1979? It seems like just yesterday I was on my way up to Edmonton to start this long hard haul. And now, it's all over.

We've all been through frustration, tears, anger, joy, elation and most of all satisfaction. When I think back on the last four years and take a good hard look at the "goods" and the "bads" of university life, the "goods" far outweigh the "bads".

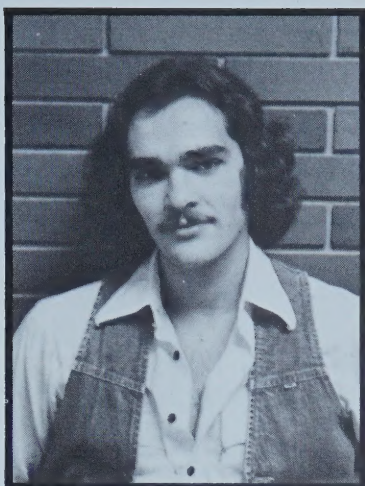

For those of you who will not be graduating this year, I would like to impress upon you to persevere. When the work load appears to be next to impossible, stay calm. Everything will fall into place. Believe me, I know, I've been through four years of it. And for those of you who are graduating, congratulations, and best of luck in your teaching endeavors.

For those of you who are coming back next year, while you're enjoying a cool brew at the Ed Socials, think of me working my buns off at a teaching job — that will be you in a few years!! While you're at the U of A make sure you have a good time, because you're not here for a long time.

Deadlines —
Part of our university years
When we can no longer elude
The inevitable task of studying.
We usually delay our papers and reading
Until the latest possible date
And acquit ourselves saying
We work better under pressure.

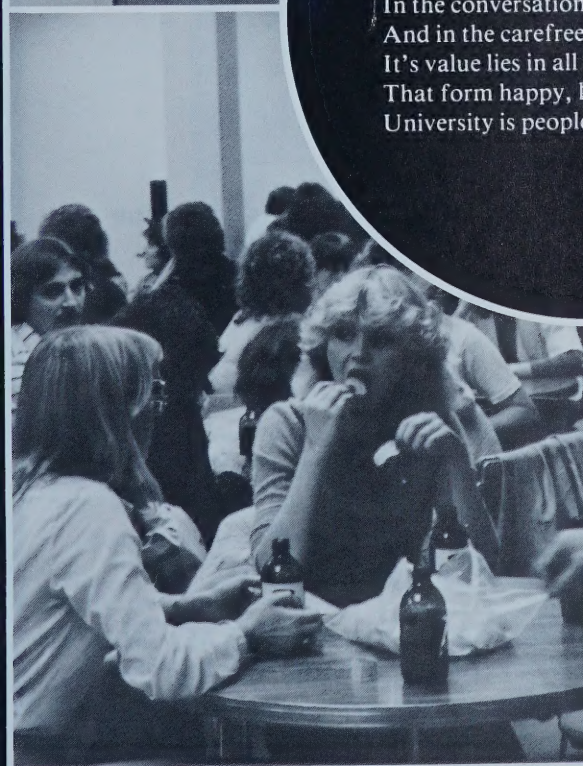

University —
It's value also can be found
In the warmth of a shared smile,
In the conversations between friends,
And in the carefree activities and parties.
It's value lies in all those good times
That form happy, lasting memories.
University is people.

What in the World is happening today?

Sparked by progressive dedicated teachers, today's students are taking an increasingly active interest in the world at large. One way they are getting the information they want is through the classroom use of daily newspapers.

Daily newspapers are serving as a vital addition to the list of resources available to teachers. Within the pages of daily newspapers, there is current information relating to virtually every area of study. Subjects such as social studies, economics, science and geography are brought vividly to life in current news articles.

Newspaper reading also contributes to a child's grasp of language and improves writing, spelling, and English usage skills.

Perhaps most important, newspapers can make children aware of the events and ideas which shape their world, helping them to become informed and participating members of society.

This newspaper offers special educational services to teachers in its circulation area. Teachers not familiar with these services, are invited to write or telephone for complete information.

helping young Canadians to learn through "Newspaper in Education"

There will always be people in our lives
Who take the time to care
Who organize and direct activities
In which we can all share.
There will also be those who volunteer
Who give their time and skill
Who persevere and lend a hand
When it appears that no one will.

Who are the people throughout the year
Active in the Faculty of Education?
What are the clubs and specialist groups
That have earned our recognition?
These are the people who deserve our thanks,
Who overcame the hassles and frustrations;
Who made our year a better year;
These are our organizations.

Education Students' Association

Office Ed N-101

E.

The E.S.A. is:

S.

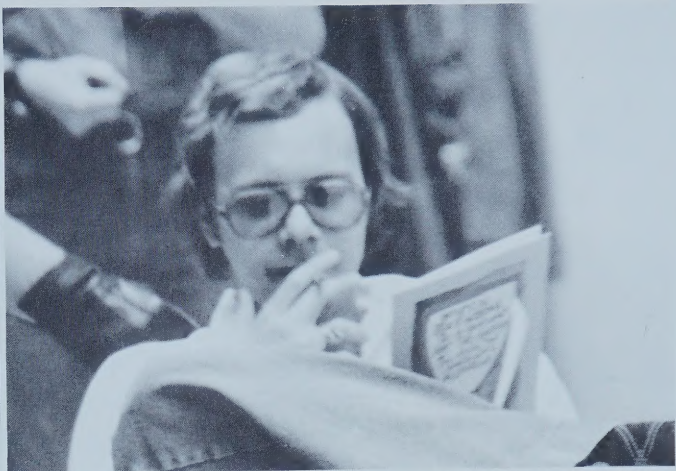

a student organization for all Education students;

A.

An important voice, providing student input into matters both within the Faculty and in the greater university community.
a meeting place where you find those who share your academic and recreational aspirations and interests.

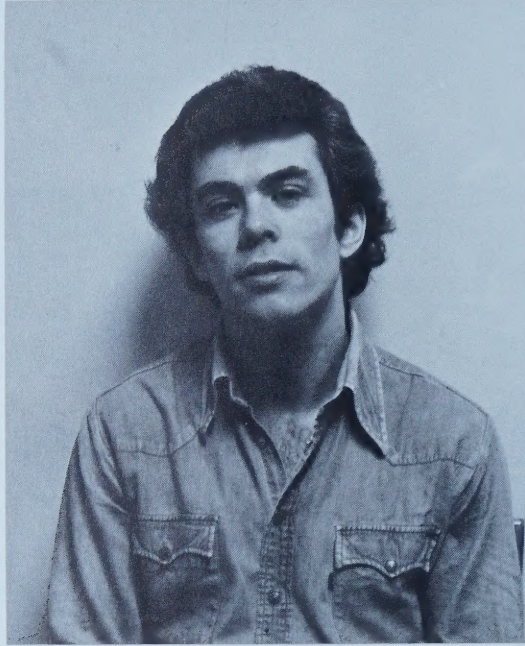

The Education Students Association serves undergraduate and graduate students within the Faculty of Education. The organization is run on a purely volunteer basis. "What advantages are there in becoming a member?" For those with lofty ambitions and a flair for things political, there are executive committees, General Faculties Council, forums, and interaction between staff and students. On the other extreme, you might just like a cheap cup of coffee and some idle conversation between classes.

You are also entitled to associate membership in the Alberta Teachers Association. The A.T.A. publishes a newsletter and periodical magazine, both excellent in their coverage of administrative, curricular, and ethical considerations in Alberta.

The Education Students Association Volunteer Program run in conjunction with the Volunteer Action Centre offers Education students the opportunity to engage in learning situation the situations which are not always confronted in the "normal" classroom. The program is designed to offer willing volunteers the emotional problems, remedial problems, or just simply helping people.

The Volunteer Program has openings in One-hundred and thirteen agencies throughout the city as well as traditional teaching experiences. Not all students will necessarily find the appropriated experience required in the practicum component of their program. The Volunteer Program hopefully will offer the interested student the ability to fill in these gaps with a unique, quite worthwhile experience. While the environment may vary from that of the conventional classroom, they are, nevertheless, many opportunities for students to experience young people as young people and, perhaps, draw from the experience new insights into their career.

The Special Education Students Association was formed in September of this year and now has 115 active members. Our primary concern in establishing this organization was to act as a liaison between the Special Ed. Students at the U of A and groups dealing with exceptional children within the community.

To accomplish this aim we have invited speakers from various local organizations to address our members. In addition we publish a monthly newsletter informing members of upcoming events of our association and others. We have established a "mini-library" through which members may borrow periodicals pertaining to exceptional children.

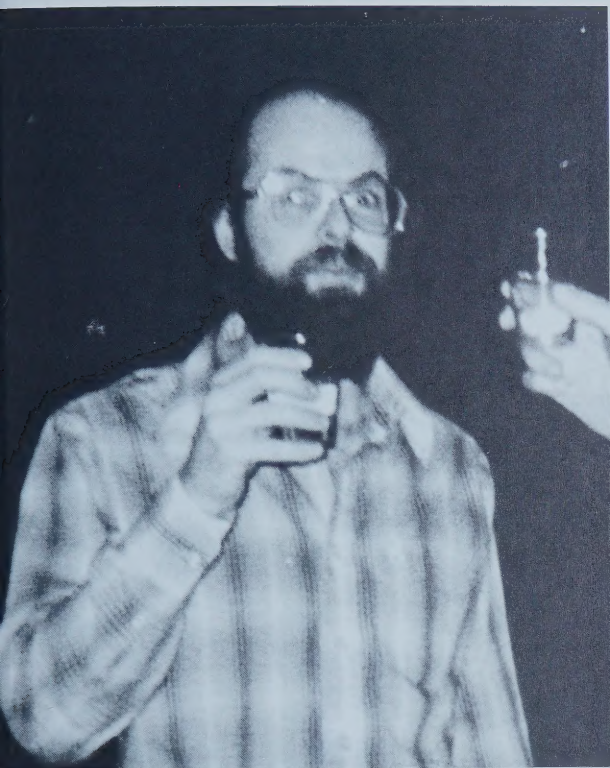

As an association we were equally concerned with social aspects of university life and hoped to promote interaction between students and professors in the Special Ed. Dept. Our first function was a "meet the profs" wine and cheese party held before Christmas exams.

As of September 1979, a new association was formed: Business Education Students Association. The Home Economics Education Students Association had a slow beginning last April but this year the word was GO. Meetings included guest speakers from the Home Ec. Program, the Home Ec. Specialist Council, the Department of Education, and various other areas. We often had delicious, nutritious dinner meetings.

We were granted office space from the E.S.A. and that was a blessing. The year's activities included socials (we love you, AIESA!!), bakesales, the starting of a reference file, a craft sale, Specialist Council seminars, and the Annual Home. Ec. Council Conference in Banff. (April 27 to 29). We had a great year and are looking forward to an even better year next year.

If you run into a home ec. ed. student, ask what home ec. is all about. If you think it's just cooking sewing you'll be in for a real surprises (and possibly a beating!!).

The time has come for us to say good-bye;
To bid adieu to the educational institutions
Which have taught us so much
During our sixteen years of schooling.
It is time to enter them in a different role.
This time as the teachers; the givers of knowledge.
We don new and different responsibilities
And gain a true independence.

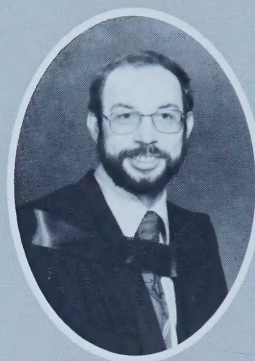

g r a d u a t e s

Yet the joy we feel at seeing the end of
Four long years of exams, papers, and drudgery
And the pride and triumphant feeling of accomplishment
In knowing that we have finally made it
And in knowing we have our degree
Is coupled with the nervous fear of entering
A new and different world.
We feel the sadness of saying good-bye to friends
Who have come to mean so very much over the past four years.

Activities:

in which we take part;

When we share with others:

our emotions,

our vitality,

From which we gain

International Year of the Child

1978-79 has been proclaimed International Year of the Child. Various activities have been held in different countries throughout the world in recognition of the special merits of children and, in particular, of their special flair to enjoy life. In Edmonton, activities included a parade of children in native costumes from around the world held in October. The ESA was also active in different events including a Christmas party, organized for children.

For us, as Education Students, it is impossible to ignore the impact that children (preschool, elementary, or adolescents) have on our lives. Far more, it is important to realize the influence that we have upon those we will teach. More than imparting knowledge, we influence a child's personal and emotional development. As such, the International Year of the Child should have special meaning to us.

To all those who are returning, best wishes in the rest of your University life. Your turn to leave will be here faster than you think so hang in there. If there's one piece of advice I've got to give, and what Grad doesn't, it would be to get involved. There's a lot more to University than books and there are many organizations within the Faculty or on Campus that would welcome your involvement. The first move is up to you.

To all the people who through their friendship have made my four years easier, a big thank-you. The memories of all the bad times, happy times, and generally crazy times will linger. I sincerely hope our paths will cross again in the future. I'd also like to thank everyone who helped with the Yearbook, especially those who always found the time to help. Take care and have a great summer!!!

Somehow, "Looking Back" on 4 years of University life, it's hard to realize just how much happy and sad can be packed into this time. Each of us changes during our time here — we can never really revert to the person we were upon entering University. All that we partake in leaves its mark upon us. somehow, we wee it through all those bad times when the exams, essays assignments, and papers just pile up, and it seems that we'll never get caught up much less get ahead. Yet, we cannot forego those happy times when we share with those we meet, a conversation, a smile, and a laugh whether in a class or at a party. And, although we can never block the memories of the hours spent in work, these memories will recede, while the memories of the better times will linger and predominate.

To the graduating class of 1979, congratulations and best of luck in your future endeavors. May the road you choose to follow bring you happiness, fulfillment, and success. Honestly, though, isn't it GREAT to be finished!!!

In Looking Back, we've tried to integrate as many of the people and activities that diversify campus life. As you look through the pages, we hope you'll recall and reminisce about the year of 1978-9.
